EF Labs
RE: Senior Web Developer

Dear Hiring Manager,

I was made aware of your job opening by Danny Li and as a successful, experienced Software Engineer, I am confident that I will excel as a Senior Web Developer at EF Labs and am really excited by the opportunity. My background in web development, software design and teaching provide me with the skills to make numerous contributions to EF Labs.

I believe these qualities make me a great addition to your team:

- Keen interest in linguistics, learning, teaching and software development.
- Familiar with state of the art in web platforms and language learning platforms.
  - Started writing a web based platform for learning Korean this year while teaching English in Korea.
- Was a key member in a small startup where I had to multitask, quickly get up to speed on new technologies and effectively communicate with co-workers and customers.
- Participated in decisions on frameworks, future development and best practices.
- Researched, recommended and deployed productivity tools that were efficient, liked and used.
- Worked with military clients where security was paramount.
- Wrote and designed software to meet expected feature specifications and communicated these to fellow co-workers.
- Spent time writing software for embedded systems where you must determine if an issue is in hardware, the operating system, the network or software.
- Automated and streamlined repetitive parts of deployment and testing for Cyber Technology's portable servers.
- Experience designing and writing parallel & multi-threaded software / architectures.
- Maintained and analysed legacy software remove bugs, and improve efficiency.

I am most interested in learning more about EF Labs and the Senior Web Designer role. Attached is my resume and a letter of recommendation. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me at bodey.baker@gmail.com or +82-10-6589-1006. I will follow up with you in a few days to ensure my application has been received and to enquire about scheduling a meeting at your convenience.

Sincerely

Bodey Baker
